The Daily Courant.

Thurſday, February 8. 1705.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 10.

Buda, January 24.

BAron Glockelsberg, and Count Frederick van Leeuwenburg, late Governours of Zatmar, came to day with their Garriſon, conducted by a Party of Malecontents, into Peſt, with Drums beating, Colours flying, and four Pieces of Cannon; purſuant to the Capitulation made upon their ſurrendring that Place to the Malecontents, which they report they were oblig'd to do by want of Proviſions. They further report, that 3 Weeks before the Garriſou of Erla ſurrendred likewiſe, and Articled to be conducted hither; but when they were come out of Erla about 2 Miles, they were oblig'd by a Body of 2000 Malecontents to turn back agen, and to take Service among their Troops, which put Count Sinzendorf Governour of Erla into ſuch a Rage that he drew out a Piſtol, but was inſtantly ſiez'd, and with his principal Officers, the Heers Penz, Spekhard and others, with their Wives and Children, was carried Priſoner to Caſchau. The Pretence of the Malecontents for doing this, was, that the ſaid Garriſon promis'd in the Month of July laſt to deliver up the Place on the 16th of December, but deferr'd doing it 14 Days longer.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 10.

Vienna, Jan. 28. The Malecontents being agen grown formidable for their Number, and General Heiſter wanting Forrage, has diſpos'd his Troops into Quarters, but ſo conveniently that if need be they can ſoon draw together agen. The Advices from Hungary aſſure us Prince Ragotski is at the Head of a very conſiderable Army. General Heiſter has written to Court, to deſire that the Regiments which are to joyn him from Bavaria may quicken their March to him. The Regiment of Cuiraſſiers of Hanover being arriv'd here, paſs'd yeſterday in Review before the King of the Romans, and is march'd on to reinforce General Heiſter. The Engliſh and Dutch Miniſters, ſollicit the Emperor very earneſtly to yield to ſome Accomodation with the Hungarian Malecontents; and the Court ſeems at preſent diſpos'd to incline an Ear to thoſe Miniſters, who have had ſome Conferences with the Deputies lately ſent hither by the Archbiſhop of Colocza to make ſome Propoſals to our Court tending to renew a Negotiation of Peace between the Emperor and the Malecontents. Yeſterday Cardinal Grimani was ſworn of his Imperial Majeſty's Privy Council, and 'tis talk'd he will be appointed to ſucceed the Count de Lamberg, as Imperial Ambaſſador at Rome.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 14.

Dreſden, Jan. 30. The laſt Letters from Vienna adviſe, that at the preſſing Inſtances of the Miniſters of England and Holland, the Court had reſolv'd to ſet on foot a Treaty of Accommodation with the Malecontents of Hungary; the more readily, becauſe they were put in Apprehenſion that the ſaid Malecontents are determin'd, if they find the Imperial Court continue obſtinately bent to give them no Terms, but to reduce them by plain Force, to put the Turks in Poſſeſſion of all the Places of Strength in their Country that are in their Hands.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 10.

Ratisbon, Feb. 2. The Regiment of Tollet quarter'd in Bavaria, will begin their March for Hungary this Week; and that of the Prince of Salm is to follow ſoon after. They demand of the Inhabitants where they are quarter'd, the Value of 6 Months Quarters in ready Money; pretending that when they were billetted upon them, 'twas preſum'd on both ſides they ſhould not be order'd to march away on any Service before ſo many Months were expir'd: 'Tis to be fear'd, that if thoſe Inhabitants do not Compound with them in time, they will extort the whole from them by Military Execution.

From the Amſt. & Harl. Courants, dated Feb. 14.

Vienna, Jan. 31. The Regiment of Gronsfeld is paſs'd through this Place towards Presburg, following that of Hanover. Beſides the Regiments of Tollet and Salms, that of Dragoons commanded by General Fels, is order'd to march hither from Bavaria, and will be ſent to reinforce General Heiſter. We have certain Advice from Bavaria, that ſome of the disbanded Bavarian Soldiers are got together, with ſome miſchievous Deſign, under Pretence that they have not yet been paid their Arrears. And 'tis talk'd that Money is collecting privately in Bavaria, for carrying on ſome Project in Favour of the Elector. The Electoreſs has augmented her Guard from 400 Men, (which was the Number ſtipulated in the Treaty concluded between the Emperor and her,) to 800, and moſt of them are Officers: In the Arſenal of Munich are 149 Pieces of Braſs Artillery, with Ammunition and Arms in Proportion, of all which the Emperor is Maſter. His Imperial Majeſty has made the Count de Bergen, Commander in chief of the Militia of Tyrol. Prince Eugene of Savoy is preparing to go to Italy, whither General Guttenſtein is to accompany him. The Imperial Ratification of the Treaty concluded with the King of Pruſſia by the Duke of Marlborough, for 8000 Pruſſians to ſerve in Italy, is ſent by an Expreſs to Berlin. The Counts of Zinzendorf and Goer, are ſhortly expected at Court; they come to ſollicit the Vice-Chancellorſhip of the Empire; but in all Appearance the young Baron of Schonborn, the Elector of Mentz's Nephew, will have that Office; the Elector of Mentz appearing determin'd to nominate no other Perſon to it, and the Imperial Court ſeeming inclin'd to accept of him on certain previous Conditions, which are not like to be obſtinately refus'd on one ſide or inſiſted on rigorouſly on the other. We are in Expectation of the Arrival of Ambaſſadors extraordinary from England and Holland, to preſs the Imperial Court powerfully to make an Accommodation with the Malecontents of Hungary; and to negociate other important Affairs. And 'tis advis'd from Frankfort, that the States General have appointed the Heer van Almelo to come hither on their Part with the Character we have mention'd. The Malecontents of Hungary have fallen into Moravia, and plunder and burn what they find in their way; and particularly have laid the chief Seat of the Lordſhip of Lutenburg in Aſhes; Parties of them frequently alarm the Imperial Troops poſted in the Diſtrict of Presburg, but when the latter are drawing together to fight them, they conſtantly ſtantly retire. Yet one of their Parties has adventur'd to paſs from the Iſland Schut into the lower Hungary, and to ravage and burn as far as Weiſſenburg. They pretend to excuſe their maſſacring moſt of the Garriſon of Eſperies, by alledging, that when General Heiſter took Poſſeſſion of Tirnau, he caus'd ſome Malecontents who laid down their Arms on Promiſe of Quarter. to be put to the Sword. The 29th Advice came from General Heiſter, that 700 Horſe of the Malecontents attempting to come over to that ſide of the Danube he is on, the Ice broke and 400 of them were drown'd, the reſt eſcap'd with great Difficulty. Order is given for ſending a great Quantity of Proviſions and Ammunition, with all poſſible Expedition, to General Heiſter, whoſe Army is in great Want of them.
